

Live a Little. Executive Homes in Halton Hills

JACK

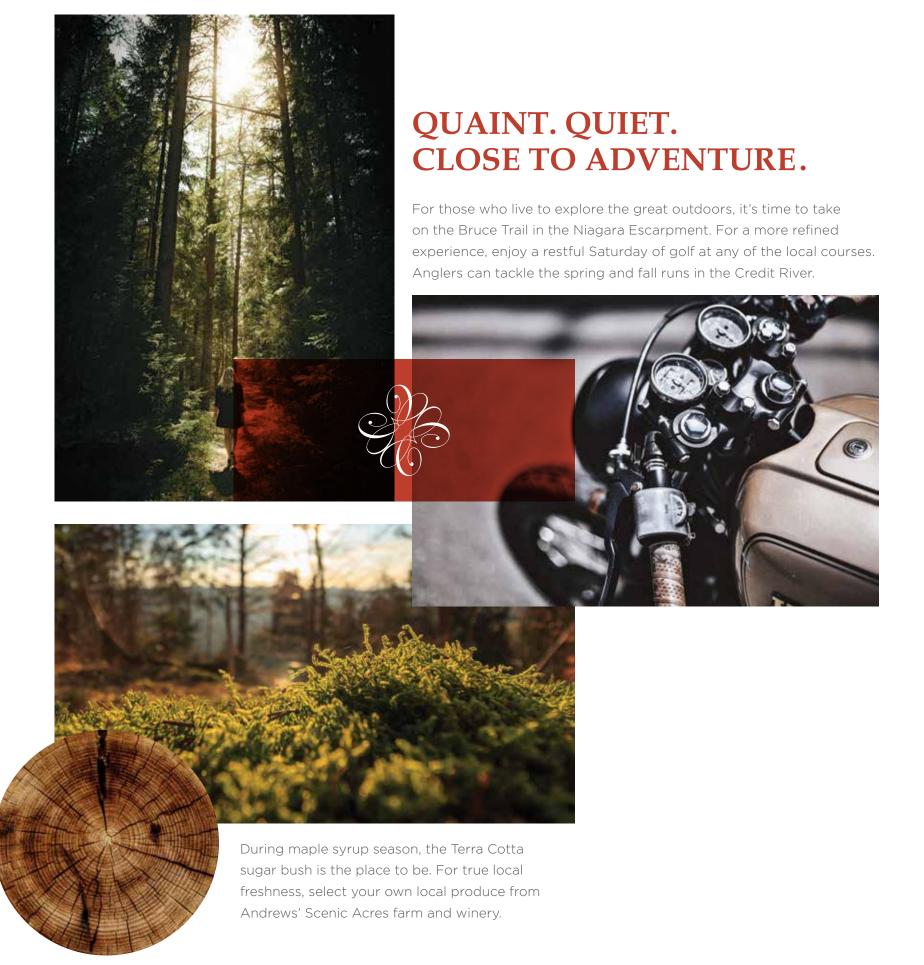

Gearhead, Entrepreneur, Retiree

UP NEXT: ROAD WARRIOR

At 17, Jack gutted his first engine, and never looked back. Nut by bolt, he built himself an auto empire with his own grease-stained hands. Now that he's retired, his feet are getting restless. With his leather jacket and his custom Harley Davidson, Jack's looking for his next big adventure.

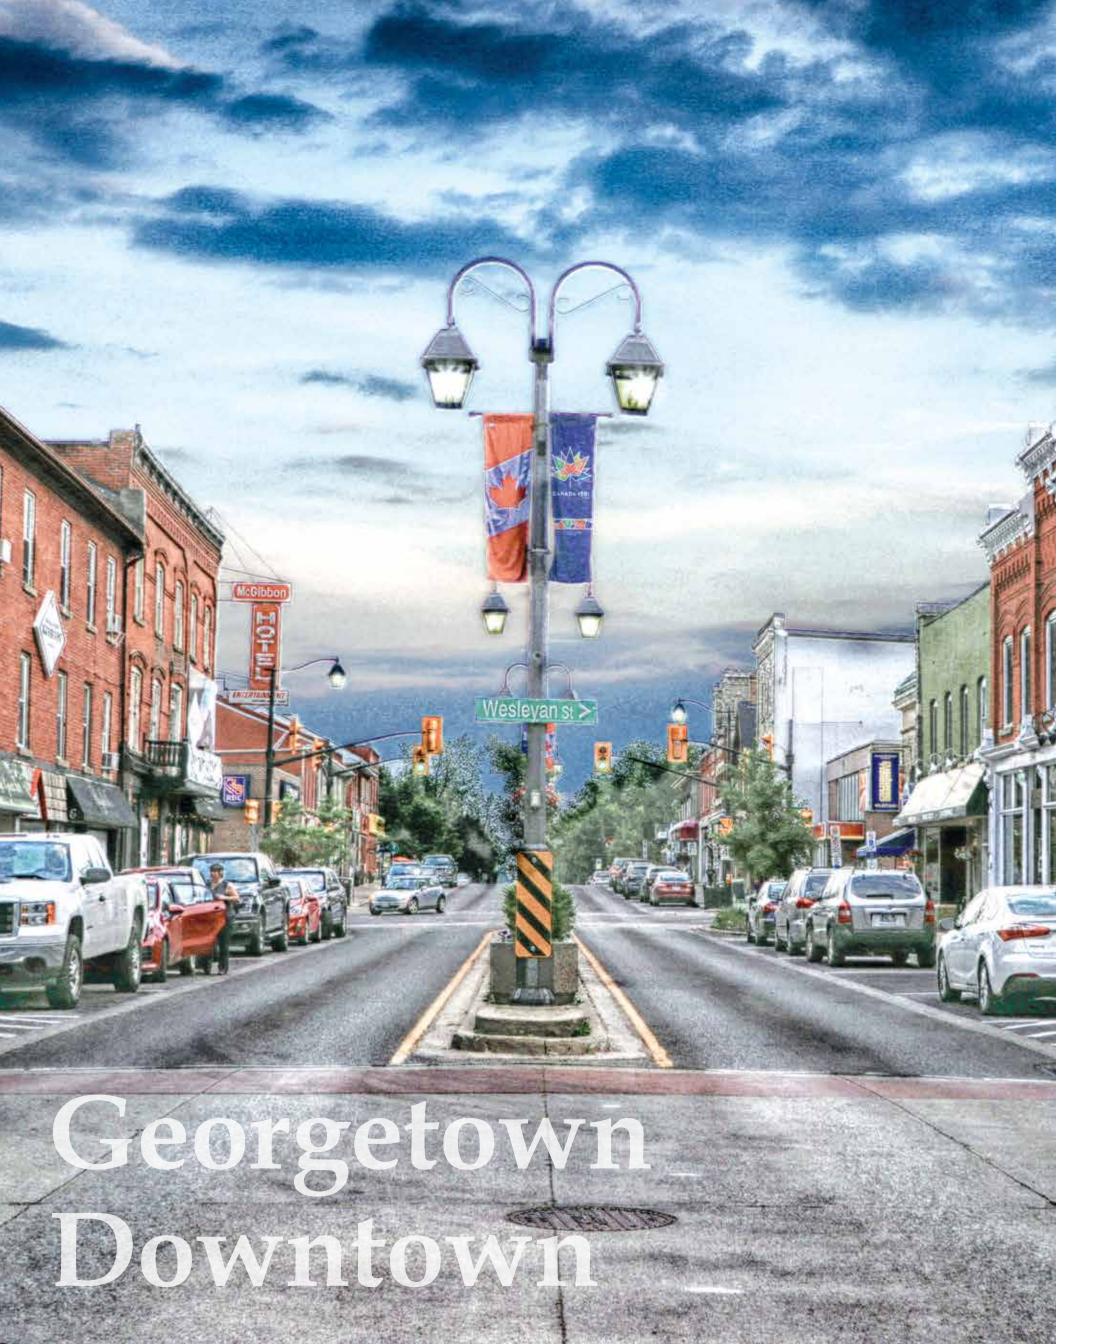

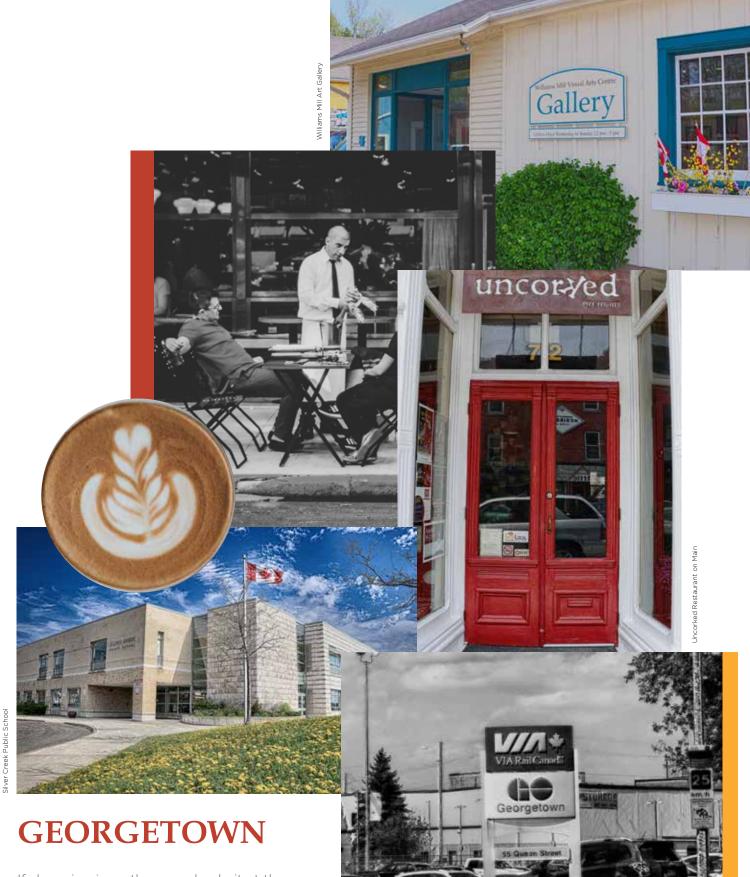

The Club at North Halton

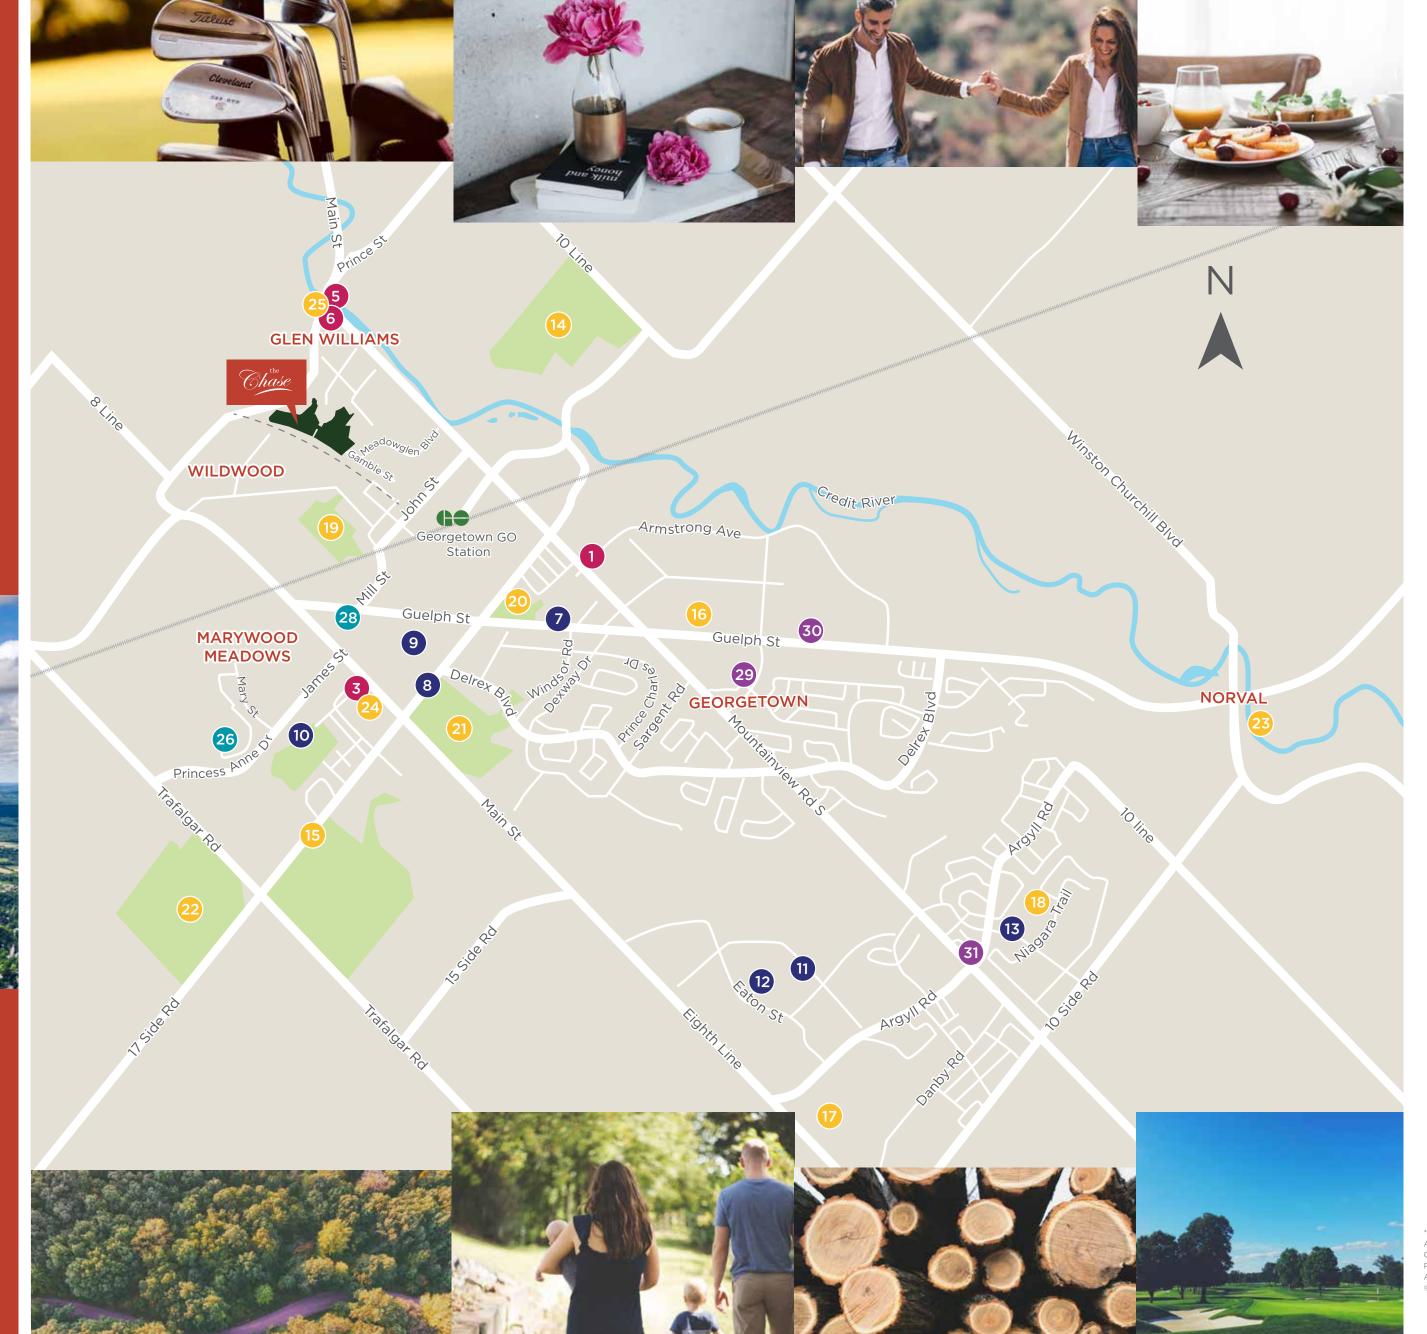

If shopping is on the agenda, do it at the Toronto Premium Outlets, just 20 minutes from the Hamlet of Glen Williams, then unwind with a luxurious hot stone massage at Georgetown's Downtown Spa. Museums like the Halton Hills Sports Museum, the Canadian Military Studies Museum, and the Halton Region Museum will spark hours of spirited discussion. For a night out, choose from a variety of pubs, lounges and taphouses serving up fresh, local fare. If the urban vibe is calling, downtown Toronto is only 50 minutes away.

Glen Williams Has It All.

From carefree casual to rugged chic to outdoor adventure, welcome to your new backyard.

PERFECT YOUR GAME.

On the 9th or 19th, if you got game, go for it. There's plenty of action to go around.

Bungalow designs

Raise your Expectations.

Blue Ridge, Victorian

With steep roof pitches, expansive lofts and sprawling living spaces, these residences are simply bungalows in title alone. First impressions are met with prestigious exterior appointments such as stone, brick and steel, followed by second looks at classic architectural accents. Inside, the conversations only get better. Relax, stay a while.

K2, Georgian

CRAFTSMAN

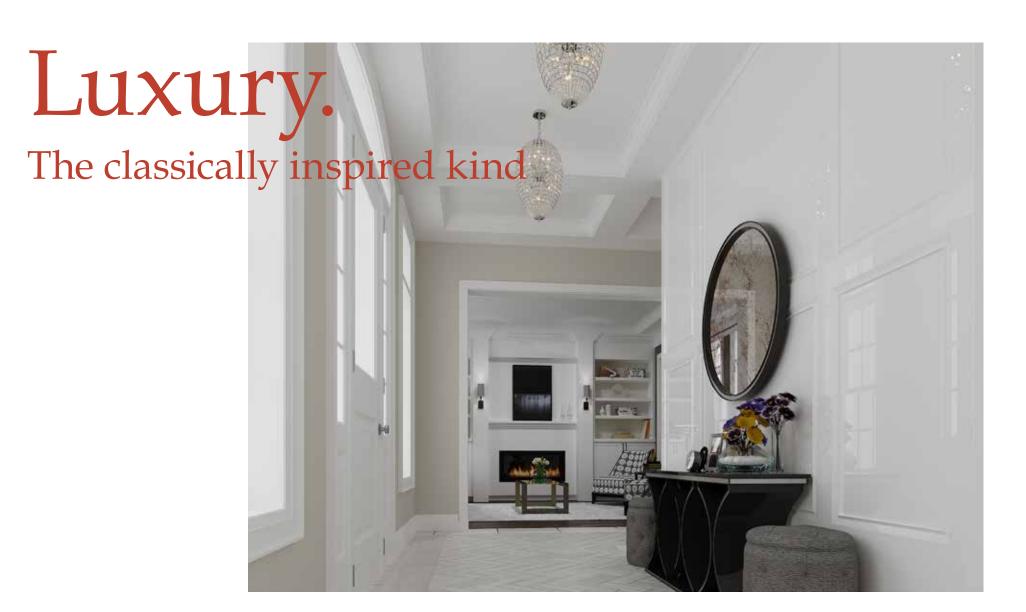

The Pinnacle of Grandeur.

Those chasing the height of space and style have summited. These classically-inspired, two-storey residences are highlighted by grand front porches, up to four-car garages and double-height windows. Interiors are equally impressive with generously-proportioned principle rooms designed for upscale gatherings and private ensuites for afterwards.

Two-storey designs

Mount Logan, Victorian

Mount Blanc Craftsman

The residences of The Chase are as exceptional and alluring as its future owners. With designs and architectural lines inspired by the naturally beautiful landscape of Halton Hills, enhanced by mature forests and green spaces, no two homes are alike.

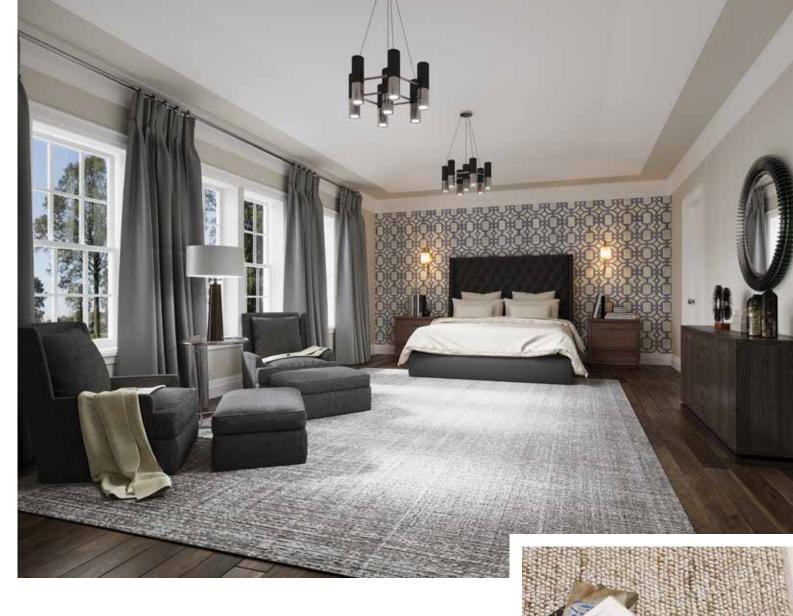

Each one features its own unique lot size, depth and architectural style to produce an enclave of impressive estate homes with distinctive rooflines. Together they will create a grand silhouette against the twilight sky.

Architectural highlights include extended height windows, perfect for drawing in daylight, grand porches designed for evening cocktails and conversations, and intricate, decorative metal fencing to give you privacy and peace-of-mind at night.
